Champion

FOR CHILDREN

Natasha Mwila

Advocacy, Communications, and Research Officer with the Network of Zambian People Living with HIV/
AIDS (NZP+), Zambia

Nominated by: ICW

Natasha Mwila began her advocacy journey as an AVAC fellow in 2022, and is currently an Advocacy, Communications and Research Officer with the Network of Zambian People Living with HIV/AIDS (NZP+). Natasha is a community advisory board member for an HIV testing services initiative, supported by the Clinton Health Access Initiative (CHAI). She is a dedicated advocate for HIV prevention and committed to promoting health equity and implementing innovative biomedical strategies. Natasha's passion stems from her personal experiences growing up in communities heavily impacted by HIV. Her goal is to witness a new generation entirely free from new HIV transmissions, particularly among adolescent girls and young women, and to ensure no child is born with the virus. Natasha holds a BA in economics, psychology and marketing, and an MSc in analytical epidemiology.
